Parisot library, in partnership with Festilitt, presents

LibraryLit

– a series of literary events throughout the year

The idea for a Parisot literary festival grew from a series of successful talks and readings with authors in the library.

We are thrilled to be launching

LibraryLit, a new partnership for 2017.

It is clear from the festival feedback, and library members, that there is a real appetite for literary events throughout the whole year, not just over the third weekend in October.

Our first three planned events are:

Saturday 28 January, 10.30

Vanessa Couchman
'21st Century Publishing'

a talk about writing and publishing,
together with readings from her latest publication
'Pearl Harbor and More: Stories of WW11 - December 1941'

Saturday 25 March, 10.30

Tracey Warr
'Conquest: Daughter of the Last King'

the state of historical fiction and her inspiration
and research for this book

Saturday 27th May, 10.30

Stephen Goldenberg
'Plot or Character - which comes first?'

a talk on writing crime fiction

All LibraryLit events are free of charge

Details of all talks will be sent out a couple of weeks before each event.
